Hi again knitters! Carly here, with another installment of Twist Style Fridays. This week, Nyame, a lovely ruffled tank designed by Julia Trice.

We showed it to you in the Spring/Summer issue like this-

I really love this piece- it's a stunner on it's own, as the centerpiece of an outfit. The two ideas below started out in mind as a day outfit (on the left) and a night outfit (right), but I think if you switched up the accessories, either one could be for daytime wandering or for going out at night.

I also think that Nyame makes a great layering piece; you could wear it as a camisole under a jacket or as part of a suit. You could also wear it as a sweatervest, to add a little feminine flair to a more structured work outfit. Layering can also carry this summery top well into the cooler seasons. I hope you like these!

How would you wear your Nyame?
