

Every Friday we feature one of the garments from the magazine in a post about styling. We suggest different ways to wear the garment in question using mock-ups from Polyvore. We encourage readers to tell us what they think about these outfits via our Facebook page or Twitter, and if folks want to make their own outfits, please tweet them at us with the hashtag #twiststyle. You can find all of the Style Friday posts here.

Happy Friday Twistfans! It's May! I hope you have been enjoying our Spring/Summer Issue. There are a bunch of real gems in there.

I'm apartment hunting, and until I find a new place to live, I'm living with only a small subset of my belongings. It's a bit like camping, but without all the camping stuff, and with plumbing. I'm actually surprised at how easy it's been to live without most of my clothes. A few dresses, a few cardigans, a few pairs of shoes and boots, and apparently, I'm kind of set! The weather here did catch me off guard a bit; it has been decidedly British out (grey, chilly, rainy) for the last several days, and there is no sign yet of it letting up.

The one thing my mini-wardrobe could use right now, is a pretty splash of color; a handknit, something with a bit of lace. I could really use Glaize.

I love the lacy sleeves, I love that you can button the neck up to crew if you like, or leave it open low if you have something pretty on underneath. I love the sleeve length, and the little split at the hem. I would like one of these in every color, please. Let's just look at one more view, because gosh.

Despite the grey skies here, it really is spring, so I think you should wear Glaize with brights, and neutrals, and shoes you can walk in for hours. Like this!

How will you wear Glaize?
