

Yes, the Fall edition just went live, but for us, it's the middle of winter with spring on the horizon.

Our photographers are setting the cool, crisp mood of winter while our models bundle up, all to make next season's knit's look their very best. And of course, our tech editors, layout designers, web developers and everyone else are all doing their part to make the edition great.

While that is happening, we have a stack of amazing submissions to sort through for spring. No rest for the knitted, around here.

In the mean time, we hope you are enjoying the Fall edition, along with all the projects in our archives.
